JOHN H. LYNDE, - PROPRIETOR

SATURDAY, SEPT. 10, 1870.

The Boston Journal declares that for weeks our columns have been "surcharged with venom directed against Marcellus Emery, Esq." As the articles to which this epithet is applied consisted of extracts from the writings and speeches of that gentleman, we must admit its appropriateness—although we did not expect the Journal to be so candid—for certainly no such venomous stuff ever before appeared in our columns.

The Journal propounds a conundrum which it wishes us to answer when we find time: "Whether Republicans did vote for Emery in this city?" We can furnish a double reply without taking much time. First, the Republicans of Bangor do not reside in the localities from which Mr. Emery received his principal support. Second: It is not only true that no Republican voted for that patriotic gentleman, but that over fifty Democrats who voted straight on the remainder of the ticket, refused to cast their ballots for him. Why they should do so we cannot pretend to explain, as we have always regarded Mr. Emery as a representative Democrat.

Perhaps the Journal can furnish a solution as it frankly asserts that the publication of the large Democratic vote in this city for the editor of The Democrat was "the bitterest dose that was ever swallowed by any newspaper since the invention of printing." It was a bitter dose. We hardly remember anything more aggravatingly nauseating, but, until assured by the Journal that it was actually unparalleled, we consoled ourselves with the thought that possibly some other community might, at some time have been as severely visited, and that perhaps we felt no worse after all, than the members of the Democratic State Convention at the announcement of Emery's nomination.

The N. Y. Standard pays the following compliment to the next Governor of Maine:

Hon. Sidney Perham, who has been elected Governor by the Republicans of Maine, has long been a prominent member of the party. He has filled various public positions, serving with credit for several terms in the National House of Representatives. He has been identified with the prohibition temperance movement from the beginning, and has won the respect of all parties by the faithfulness with which he has observed, in private life, the principles which he professed in public. He is a safe, sound and conscientious leader, and the Republicans of Maine have reason to congratulate themselves on his election.

The Democrat this week raises the national flag over its election returns. We wonder whether its astonishing appearance in those columns inspires the editor with emotions akin to those which possessed his soul upon a former occasion, when "he almost felt he could reach forth his hand, and pluck from that mocking constellation the bright star that glitters to the name of Maine; but he would leave the stripes behind, as a fitting emblem of her present degradation."

The will of the late Benjamin Nathan, who was murdered in New York, fills two columns in the morning papers. His wife is an eccentric. His sons Harmon and Frederick and his sons-in-law, are the executors. Fifty thousand dollars is divided between his eight sisters and one brother; $15,500 is donated to charitable objects; and each son excepting Washington, and each daughter, receives $75,000. The will directs that $75,000 be placed with the United States Trust Company, the income of which shall be paid to Washington, but when he shall marry a lady born in, and professing the Hebrew faith, or when twenty-five years old, and if his mother and brother think it advisable, the principal shall be paid to him. The bulk of the property is left to his widow. The will is dated December 21st, 1869.

The New York Board of Health is much alarmed lest the yellow fever has been introduced into that city by evading the quarantine authorities. A whole family on Essex Street died a few days ago, showing every symptom of yellow fever. Dr. Janway of the Bellevue Hospital, made a post mortem examination of the bodies and pronounced the disease a pernicious fever of an unknown character. Inquiries show that a short time ago the victims attended a wake, on Staten Island, of a man who died of fever after escaping from quarantine.

SAN DOMINGO.—A private letter from a partisan of Cabral, dated St. Thomas, August 31st, says that the position of Baez is critical. Cabral has confided the Southern lines to General Marcelo and the Ozanda Brothers, while he joins Gen. Pimental in the North. Gen. Hungria, Minister of War under Baez, has resigned, on account of the quarrel with Baez, and not because of ill health as reported. The deception practiced by Baez has caused many of his friends to become enemies, and he has caused the arrest of some. The Cabral party is in favor of annexation. The writer predicts that Baez will be overthrown before October 1st.

A BRONZE STATUE OF MR. LINCOLN.—The statue of Abraham Lincoln, erected under the auspices of the Union League, was quietly placed in position yesterday, in Union Square, New York, without any formal ceremonies. The statue represents Mr. Lincoln in a standing position, with the Emancipation Proclamation in his extended hand, the figure being enveloped in a cloak. The statue is of bronze, ten feet high, and standing on a pedestal of stone. It cost about $10,000.

WAR NOTES.

The correspondent of the N. Y. Sun, says there are certainly half a million of men now under arms in Paris. Gen. Clusaret has been unanimously elected in twenty arrondisments of Paris with Flourens and Schueiller, as a central committee of war.—The Republic has been proclaimed at Strasbourg.—The Vienna Presse says the Empress escaped from Paris through the exertions of Prince Metternich.—M. Thiers has had a long interview with members of the Orleans family in London, and it is said that he delivered to the Duke D'Aumale, an important private letter from Frochsdorf.—The announcement that Prussia dictates the terms on which Italy enters Rome, creates dismay in London, and it is asked whose turn comes next.—The mail communication between London and Paris has been stopped, but the telegraph is still working as the lines run underground for 15 leagues from the city.—London advices state that Prussia will only treat with the Senate, Corps Legislatif or the Empress. This is regarded as war to the death for the Provisional Government, which sooner than abdicate the Republic, will make Paris a heap of ruins.—The statement that Napoleon complains bitterly of his Generals and declares that Paris is unable to prevent entrance of the Prussians, excites great indignation among the friends of France. It is said that Napoleon paralyzed the action of his Generals, and he should be the last to proclaim the weakness of the defences of the Capital.—A London dispatch says the report of the almost incredible atrocities perpetrated by the Prussians at Bazeille, is confirmed.—An eye-witness says that the Prussians published the inhabitants for defending their village, by setting the place on fire. Most of the National Guards were killed; the people sought refuge in cellars, and all the men, women and children were buried alive, the Bavarians driving back into the flames or shooting all who tried to escape.—The friends of Mazzini high in state claim that he will renounce his Republican sentiments, he such as Rome is the Italian capital. He says it is one reason more for seeking to establish a Republic in Italy.—The N. Y. World's London Special says: The Democratic demonstration on Monday next, will be the most formidable ever held in London. The programme is full of grand processions, banners &c. All sections will be represented. Englishmen will march in a body to join the Italian and French Republicans at Trafalgar Square, and all will then proceed to the official residence of Mr. Gladstone, and demand the recognition of the French Republic.—One of the Paris journals says: Negotiations with the object of obtaining peace have been going on between Ministers Favre and Washburne at Paris, and Bancroft at Berlin, but have failed. The King of Prussia rejects American mediation, and Minister Bancroft replies that he can only remain a spectator of the conflict. Minister Washburne on communicating Minister Bancroft's dispatch to the Minister of Foreign Affairs, added that he could only record his protest against this impious war.—The Paris Gaulois affirms that the British Government has sent another letter to the King of Prussia, demanding peace, and asking upon what conditions Prussia would sign and where they would have peace concluded.—Also informing him that the basis that would be agreed to by neutral powers would be the integrity of French territory. No written answer has been received to this message, but King William asks what guaranty the Prussian Government can offer and whether the French people and the regular government which is to succeed the present, would ratify the treaty of intervention.

LETTER FROM AUGUSTA.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE STATE FAIR—LOCAL MATTERS, &c.

AUGUSTA, Sept. 10.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

Preparations for the exhibition of the Maine State Society, which commences here next Tuesday are going on briskly. If the weather proves fine the Fair must be a success, judging from the preliminaries. The entries are already large. Up to last night there were 290 entries of cattle, 215 of horses, 112 of sheep, 17 of swine; 7 coops of fowl, &c., which is ahead of any other State Fair.

The Park, which is almost opposite the State House, is being fitted up with stalls, buildings, &c., very rapidly. A large additional field fronting the street has been enclosed and the whole fitted to meet the demands. The sheds, stalls, &c., are of a better quality than those at Portland. The Park is being furnished with water by sinking iron tubular wells. Four have been sunk to depths averaging from 38 to 70 feet and two of them are supplying plenty of pure fresh water.

The indoor portion of the exhibition is at the State House, which has been fitted up for the reception of the articles. The articles will be on exhibition in the various rooms as follows: Rotunda, fine arts, carriages, &c.; Representatives Hall, general miscellaneous articles; Senate Chamber, fancy work, flowers, and especially ladies' department; Agricultural Room, crops, dairy, grains, &c.; Adjutant General's Office, musical instruments; Rooms No. 5 and 6, vegetables, honey, fruits, &c.

The agricultural implements, heavy machinery, &c., will be exhibited in a mammoth tent on the grounds near the front entrance. There will be a rear entrance for the convenience of persons and stock which come by railroads and disembark at a temporary depot at the foot of the grounds.

Miss Woodbury, who was run over in the street yesterday and supposed to be badly injured, is much better this morning and doing nicely. Her injuries are slight.

Gov. Cony still lies in a critical condition, and his physicians think there are no hopes of his recovery.

The indications are that there will be a great rush of visitors here next week and all available boarding places are being engaged.

QUIDAM.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

The Democrats of the Twelfth District of Illinois have nominated William Hunt for Congress.

Hiram Ketchum, formerly a prominent Whig politician and Judge of the U. S. Circuit Court, died at Riverdale, N. Y., yesterday morning.

Horace M. Jordan, Esq. of Westbrook, for several years connected with the Southern press and more recently with that of Portland, a gentleman of scholarly attainments and a graceful writer, has assumed editorial charge of the Maine Standard.

Chief Justice Chase is now reported to be enjoying excellent health, the stories to the contrary having been sheer fabrications.

The Republican State Executive Committee of Georgia, recommend the passage of a law, which was also approved by Attorney General Akerman, advancing the election to a week before Christmas, otherwise the election will occur November eighth.

The following Congressional nominations were made on Thursday: Republican, Geo. A. Halsey of New York, for 6th N. J. District; Democratic, Steven Archer, 2d Maryland District; Thos. Swann, 3d Maryland District; Capt. John Ritner of Frederick City, for the 6th Maryland District and William F. Lockwood of Toledo, for the 10th Ohio District.

Mlle. Nilsson was serenaded on Thursday night at the residence of Dr. Doremus in N. Y., by Dodworth's Band, and the Swedish singing societies, seven thousand persons, being present.

The Nevada Democratic State Convention have nominated Major L. R. Bradley for Governor and Frank Denver, for Lieutenant-Governor.

The N. Y. Times' Washington correspondent, says there is excellent authority for the statement that the English mission was offered, a week ago, to a prominent Western politician, supposed to be Judge Orth of Ind., and that his letter of acceptance is now in the President's hands.

The Convention of temperance men held at Binghampton, N. Y., Thursday, decided to organize an anti-rum-shop party, and appointed a Committee to select candidates nominated or name new ones.

The Kansas Democratic State Convention nominated the following ticket: For Governor, Ira S. Sharp; for Lieutenant-Governor, A. J. Allen; Secretary of State, O. C. Darrow, Auditor, H. M. Mohan; Treasurer, S. C. Lappart; Superintendent of Public Instruction, F. H. Murray; for Congress, R. C. Foster of Leavenworth.

The railroads in the 6th Missouri District on Thursday, nominated ex-Lieutenant Governor Smith for Congress. The Convention in the 5th District rejected the Brown platform and the Liberals refused and nominated E. H. King for Congress.

RITUALISM IN NEW YORK.—The new Episcopal mission of St. Ascension, established by Rev. Joshua Bradley, one of the leading ritualists of England, was formally opened at 285 Broadway, New York, Thursday morning, twelve low masses being celebrated, between 6 and 11 a. m., the services were an extreme development of the ritualists of this country and almost identical with the Roman Catholic, except in the use of the English language.

—The Argus says that St. Paul's Commandery Knight's Templar, of Dover, N. H. have signified their intention of visiting Portland on Thursday next. They are to be the guests of St. Albans Commandery while there, and will be treated to a clam bake on the afternoon and a ball in the evening of their arrival.

—The Chronicle says that Converse Moody of Temple, one of the workmen on the Androscoggin Railroad bridge at Farmington, 83 years of age, walks from his home and returns every day, a distance of four miles each way. He belongs to a family of thirteen children, twelve of whom are living, the youngest being over fifty years of age.

Maine Classical School

A delegation from the locating committee of the proposed Maine Classical School have visited the several places from which offers for the location of the School have been received, and have examined the buildings and grounds which have been offered. The decision in regard to the location will be deferred until the 1st of October, to give opportunity for individual and communications to make further proposals. The Committee feel that the duty imposed on them is an important one, and as the matter now stands, an exceedingly delicate one. They wait in the hope that such an offer will come to them from some place where the people are awake to the importance of having the School located in their vicinity, as will make the location an easy one.

All communications addressed to the undersigned, at Bangor, will receive attention.

The Shivering Season.

The loss to the laboring classes of the United States caused by fever and ague, has been estimated at upwards of two millions of dollars per annum. Whole settlements are sometimes prostrated by the disease, and it is regarded in some localities, as one of those visitations of Providence which cannot be avoided. This is a mistake. As certainly as any of the evils which are invited by neglect may be forestalled by precaution—so certainly may an attack of intermittent (or remittent) fever be prevented by invigorating the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in advance of the season, at which this malady prevails. Prevention, it is needless to say, is the wisest policy; but it is consoling to know that where time has not been thus taken by the forelock, and the paroxysms have actually commenced, a complete cure may, in all cases, be rapidly effected by the use of this powerful vegetable tonic. The reputation of the Bitters as a specific for dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation and nervous debility, has in some measure thrown into the shade its merits as a preventive and a cure of other ailments, but all who have ever taken it, either as a protection against or a remedy for malarious fevers, will admit that it surpasses in efficiency all the so-called specifics (including quinine), usually prescribed for those maladies, while it is at the same time entirely harmless and decidedly palatable.

CAPTURE OF RAILROAD TRAINS

Part of Bazaine's Force Reported Marching to the Capital!

MORE TALK OF MEDIATION.

BISMARCK WITH THE ADVANCE

Oxford 16 It is believed that Bismarck goes with the German advance, near Paris, with the intention of submitting terms of peace to the defeated government, as soon as the city is completely surrounded spoke very firmly yesterday, regarding the idea of forbidding all communication with the outer world He alluded to the losses in the fight he inflicted, but spoke of them as the cruel necessities of war. He spoke of the bitterness of the tone in which certain English journals had alluded to the defeat of Paris as being a political feint—Loos he said at the calm determination with which he was now devastating some of the richest suburbs and most valuable dependencies of Paris, laying waste beautiful parks, felling all forests the work of centuries, and levelling buildings with the ground, and asked if these facts did not speak loudly in support of the resolution which Paris had taken to fight to the last hour against her invaders

GENERAL TROCHU

THE PRUSSIANS AT WORK

London 16 It is reported that railroad traffic being Paris yesterday, were attacked and fired upon to-day by the Prussians, and several passengers on board were killed and wounded

All the regular troops as well as the Franc Tireurs have left Paris to oppose the movements of the Prussian army of the Loire is well supplied with provisions at Metz.

The Prussians are slowly concentrating around Paris.

Paris 16 The Prussians, having captured a railroad train at Trenlis, the travel in that direction will stop immediately

Fifteen thousand Prussians are at Joinville

MEDIATION

Berlin 16 The latest intelligence concerning mediation is, that Russia declines all further efforts in that direction; Mr Bancroft is also having invoked American intervention Prussia is satisfied with the reserved attitude of England, as defeating the French hope for armed intervention Germany demands the cession of Alsace and Lorraine

Paris 16 The city has been declared in a state of siege. Non combatants are to be expelled

It is reported that the American ship Queen has arrived at Toulon with 600 American volunteers and 7000 rifles

The forests around the city are now entirely consumed

Boulion, Sept, 16

CONFLICTING RUMORS

are flutterly out through the Prussians at Metz are now marching towards Paris They are 6,000 strong Marshal Bazaine himself has gone to Sedan

Orleans are withdrawing from Strasbourg

The Prussian headquarters on Friday were at Meaux

St Petersburg Sept. 16 The Journal (official organ) regrets the determination of the Prussian government to treat only with the Emperor for peace, and says that as Napoleon cannot longer reign in France, he cannot, as a consequence of his retreat

London Sept. 16 The French have useless to destroyed all the works of art on the railways and railroads leading out of Paris, but notwithstanding the wholesale destruction of property, the advance of the Prussian army has not been delayed a single hour

Paris journals to-day insist that mediation is possible

The Prussians are massing at some distance from the city

The preparations for the defence of Paris are so far perfect that they are expected to act strongly in favor of peace

PRELIMINARY RAIDS

Paris Sept 16 Gen Trochu has this morning sent an army corps to attack the advance guard of the Prussian army located on the northeast and southeast of the capital

Several Uhlans were arrested late morning disguised as citizens and were immediately taken to the office of the Minister of the Interior They will meet the same fate as others captured in the city

Paris is supplied with six million kilogrammes of powder, twice as much as was expended at Sebastopol.

London, 16. A slow mail route has been arranged between this city and Paris, by way of Vienna and Rome. Only a few curious travellers have thus far visited Wilhelmshole since the arrival of Napoleon, and they are more than half Americans On Friday last the Duchess of Hamilton visited the Emperor, in dresses, in undress uniform, and Jules Dr. Conneau perpetually on his right, during his almost incessant walks. Prince Murat and Mockowa, Dr. Charles, Palace, and Viscount Reille, are in his company most of the time

A Paris correspondent writes of M. Thiers as follows: There are those who think it possible that France would give up a portion of her fleet to pay cost of the present war, raze the walls of Strasbourg and Metz, abolish conscription, and accept the limitation of the army as the price of peace but nobody believes she will cede a foot of territory England is greatly annoyed by an army of sightseers who follow and stare at her whenever she appears in public. In his last speeches Gen Ulrich commander at Strasburg admits the situation to be desperate. With Worthes the Prussian commander, defers a general assault on the city in order that the garrison may not be uselessly butchered

Madrid, 16 A violent controversy is going on among the newspapers of this city, as to the course pursued by Olozaga, recently Minister of France, and it is possible that some changes in the Cabinet may grow out of the discussion Sagasta is to be appointed President of Cortes, in place of Rivero who has resigned The successor of Sagasta has not been appointed

Berlin, 16 The government of North Germany have given official notice to marshors that approaches to Hamburg are dangerous the usual lights have been extinguished, and the channels filled with torpedoes

Odenstown, 16 The Steamship Java, has arrived

London, 16 The heavy fire was continued all day yesterday from the heavy guns in the third parallel surrounding Strasburg, causing great destruction to the walls and citadel, an effort to carry the fortifications by storm will doubtless be made to-morrow Several fires have broken out in the city, fires are inevitably from careless bombardments. Early yesterday morning a flag of truce was displayed by the French, and it was hoped that it meant an offer of capitulation, the firing ceased, and an officer had guard advanced towards the Prussian lines, asking in the name of Gen Ulrich for cessation of firing, to enable a party of women and a few wounded civilians who hitherto had persisted in remaining, to leave the city the request was granted Some fugitives in an conversation stated that the sufferings were intense, prisoners are served out in very limited quantities, the mortality and sickness is very great.

On the 14th the citizens made another appeal to Gen Ulrich, to yield to inevitable destiny, the commander reported that his position was most painful, but he must at all hazards discharge his duty to his country

The docks at Havre are over taxed with cotton, coffee, grain and other goods Even mahogany are being rapidly loaded on French vessels for shipment elsewhere, in order to save them from the Prussians

London, Sept 16 Our correspondent writing from Paris Sept 16, says Bread and meat have fallen in price, but salt and provisions have risen

An immense supply of powder three million kilogrammes, is within the walls.

A balloon will be used and photographic birds eye views taken continually of the enemy's advance and sent instantly to General Trochu

Troops are daily arriving who escaped from Sedan Among the others, last night, was a General in peasant's attire

Pere Hyacinthe has published a letter expressing the warmest gratitude to the United States for the prompt recognition of the Republic He has been prevented by illness from going as chaplain in the army

The letter addressed by Minister Washburne to the Minister of Foreign Affairs is, says the latter, a page in the history of both worlds It revives the memory of Washington and Lafayette and proves that if despotism succeeded in dividing two governments, liberty had not for the moment ceased to unite the two nations Europe and whose soil the blood of our heroes defended, has been shed, still keeps silent, while America, notwithstanding an ocean separates us, makes her voice heard.

The Prussians are closing in on Paris in a way that indicates an attack on the southern and southwestern sides, and in that direction so as to secure supplies and at the same time prevent reinforcements from the south and southwest coming to the besieged

The dispatch from the Berlin correspondent this evening as to the terms of peace resolved upon by the representatives of the German states in council with King William at Rheims, is generally discredited here The considerate statement that Bavaria and Baden renounce any claim for the enlargement of territory proves its falsity

It is stated that the Crown diamonds lodged by the Empress in the Bank of France are paste and that the real ones were sold since through an American dentist named Evans and the money converted to the use of the Imperial family

Special to N Y Herald.

Paris, Sept 16 A profound peace has come over the city, occasioned by a feeling of isolation We now for the first time realize that we are cut off almost entirely from the outside world and are dependent on our own efforts for our future fate It is believed that if the present mail gets through it must be the last. It is probably the last that will be permitted to leave the capital The only business now is that occasioned by the tread of troops passing from one part of the city to another The last vestige of old Paris, full of gaiety, life and dissipation, has vanished

Earnest work and contempt of danger must be the lot of all who remain inside the walls of Paris The people are terribly calm—There is no outward evidence of fear No bravado or flourish Everywhere the spirit of patriotism breaks forth audibly It takes the appearance of fearlessness and desperation Last night I passed through the office of the Electeur Libre, the semi official organ of the government. The compositors, while waiting for copy, stand in a line practicing the manual exercise The men are absorbed earnestly in the work I passed through a large portion of the city without a single policeman visible, yet order and tranquility were never more perfect. The only change, which is painful enough, is that of the streets from their former cleanliness. The garbage is unremoved and the sidewalks unswept Things more momentous occupy the attention of the people and the blow may fall at any moment.

Victor Hugo came to share the perils of its citizens, He has no public role to fill, but thought his poor presence on the ramparts might be useful

Dresden, 16 The following is the text of the dispatch of the Czar to the King of Saxony, conferring a decoration on the Crown Prince and his son "To do honor to the success of your brave soldiers I venture to confer on your son Prince Royal of Saxony, the cross of the military order of St George of the second class, which he has so nobly merited, he will receive it I hope as a new proof of my respect and friendship

London, 16 It is reported that the Foreign office here has Bismarck's reply to the demand of Jules Favre, for armistice. Bismarck says there are questions yet to be settled with France, before the suspension of hostilities can be possible.

The Examiner urges a cordial support to be given to the French Republican government.

The Prussian attack on Paris will be directed at first against Mincennes, and a large body of Prussian troops will confront them there.

The Peuple Francais, says that none of the Foreign powers have offered to intervene in favor of France, and no such offer is expected.

MRS MANCHESTER, the distinguished Physician, will remain at the Bangor House till Oct. 7th! Her success during her ten years' practice in this State of Maine, has been unprecedented. Many persons, who have suffered years from numerous chronic diseases, have been cured by her after having been pronounced incurable by other physicians, thereby demonstrating how much greater the success of physicians who devote their exclusive attention to chronic diseases. Hundreds of testimonials from prominent and well known citizens of nearly every town in the State, can be seen at Mrs. Manchester's rooms Call at once, her stay is limited.

Commercial travellers and others have been in the habit of getting away from Rockland as quickly as possible on account of the poor hotels The necessity for rushing off no longer exists, as MR G A LYNDE has just opened a new, pleasant, well arranged house, and is prepared to attend to the wants of the public. Give LYNDE HOUSE a call.

We would advise the public to go and see Brown & Libby's shingle planing machine, over the boiler stores, corner of Oak and Washington streets, from 8 to 9.30 A M and from 2 to 3.30 P M. Patent rights for sale

Central Railroad of Iowa,

235 MILES IN LENGTH.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED

This Company are now pushing their work forward with great rapidity, and the entire line necessary to connect St Louis and St Paul is graded and under contract to be finished this season The fact that this enterprise has been undertaken by a combination of leading bankers and railroad capitalists of well known wealth, experience, and ability, insures its early completion and future success.

The road runs through the richest and most thickly settled portion of Iowa, and is built in the interests of the great Northern system of roads which centre at St Paul The of the Company pay 7 per cent Gold Interest, free of Government tax, and are issued for the very small amount of $16 000 per mile For the present the unsold portion are offered at 95 and accrued interest. The attention of investors is invited to the fact that the road is now nearly finished and that the Security is therefore entitled to the high rank.

In our opinion, no class of investments has been found so uniformly safe and profitable as First Mortgages on completed railroads

Of 235 companies operating 30 000 miles of railroad in the Northern and Western States, on which there has bonded debt of $662 000 000, we know of but two that do not pay their interest regularly,

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Government, and buy really First-class Railroad securities—such as these—than the present

W. B. SHATTUCK,

Treasurer

After a full examination, we have accepted the Agency for the Sale of the above First Mortgage Bonds and feel to recommend them to our customers AS A THOROUGHLY SAFE, AS WELL AS PROFITABLE, INVESTMENT.

[illegible]

I've long since learned to read in your face
On things that young men despise.
Black hair to me is only black,
Unless it wears pro rebellione;
Unless they spare the lover's rack,
Blue eyes to me are only blue—
For who love me is lovely.

I cannot praise the lip's red hue
Unless it murmurs . . . Ah! you know
How well enough the words that I
Would wish—so fondly wish—to hear.
You know the honey of their sight
The sweetness of the soft "My dear"—
She that love me is lovely.

Her bosom may be white—Ah, me!
How white their blooms sometimes let—
Yet when it throbs to every breath
That wears the warmth of tender times,
I shun the pearl so often stired,
And hand for Blushes for plain Miss Innocence—
She that love me is lovely.

—[illegible] in Harper's Bazar

CURIOUS PROPHECIES.—The "war," writes our Frankfort correspondent, has its humorous as well as sad side, and before the times become too earnest, I will give you a number of curious glealings and anecdotes which have appeared in recent German papers. I bought a Kreutzer, a few days ago, a small printed sheet headed "A Remarkable Prophecy," in which the end of Napoleon is apparently foretold for the present year. I find seven similar things before in relation to Napoleon, but will communicate it here:

The following (says the printed sheet) is of great interest now on account of the surprising results gained therefrom:

Louis Philipe was born	1773
His queen	1782
They were married	1809
Ascended the French throne	1830

By the addition of these historical numbers as follows:

1830	1830	1830
3	2	10
1848	1848	1848

we get the ominous year of 1848, in which Louis Philipe abdicated the French throne. This method of calculation has been applied to the present Emperor, and equally surprising results have been achieved.

Napoleon III. was born	1808
The Empress Eugenie was born	1826
They were married	1853
Ascended the throne	1853

Taking these figures and working them out as before we have:

1853	1853	1853

The deduction of these figures is apparent to every one. Louis Napoleon will lose his throne during the present year.

Another prophecy is communicated by a scholar to the Hamburg Nachrichten, and is found in the "Prophetics de Nostradamus," in the edition which appeared in London in 1672. Nostradamus was a celebrated astologer in the sixteenth century; born on the 14th of December, 1503, at St. Reno in Provence of Jewish descent. His proper name being Michael Notre Dame. He first studied medicine, and, after gaining great fame, first began to make prophecies in the year 1547, issuing his famous predictions (Prophecies) first in Lyons in 1555. These predictions were in rhymed quatrains, divided into centuries, of which there were seven. The second edition, published in 1568, contained 353, and had a great success.—Though many regarded Nostradamus as a quack, he was much sought after by high and low, and Catharine de Medici invited him to visit her at Blois, to draw the horoscope of her sons. His predictions have since been the subject of a vast controversial literature. In the thirteenth prophecy of the tenth century of his "Prophecies," this writer to the Hamburger Nachrichten finds one passage which is applicable to the present time. It reads thus:

"Nepveu et sang du Sathonyeou vent
Par le aurtons sous trent ages et conert
Seront chasse mis a mort chasse mis
En rouge et non convertorout leur vert
The translation reads: "The nephew and the blood of the newly-arrived saint (Napoleon I.) supports by the nature arch and roof (the edifice); they will be hunted down, killed, hunted naked. Their green will be changed into red and black." Though the last line appears obscure enough for anybody except a prophet, a German announces, the key to it by translating vert as hope, rouge as blood, and noir as mourning—"Their hopes will be turned into blood and mourning."—Evening Post.

MR. WEBSTER'S DEATH.—It was past midnight, when, awakening from one of the slumbers that he had at intervals, he seemed not to know whether he had not already passed from his earthly existence. He made a strong effort to ascertain what the consciousness that he could still perceive actually was, and then uttered those well-known words, "I still live!" as if he had satisfied himself of the fact, that he was striving to know. They were his last coherent utterance. A good deal later he said something in which the word "poetry" was distinctly heard. His son immediately repeated to him one of the stanzas of Gray's "Elegy." He heard it and smiled. Afterwards, respiration became more difficult, and at length it went on with perceptible intervals. All was now hushed within the chamber, and to us who stood waiting; there were but three sounds in nature—the sighing of the autumn wind of the trees, the slow ticking of the clock in the hall below, and the deep breathing of our dying friend.

Moments that seemed hours flowed on. Still the measured beat of time fell painfully distinct upon our ears. Still the gentle sighing of the wind mingled with the only sound that arose within the room; for there were no sobs of women, no movement of men. So grand, but yet so calm and simple had been his approach to the moment when we must know that he was with us no more, that he had lifted us into a composure which, but for his great example, we could not have felt.

At twenty-three minutes before three o'clock his breathing ceased, the features settled into a superb repose; and Dr. Jeffries, who still held the pulse, after waiting a few seconds, gently laid down the arm, and amid a breathless silence, pronounced the single word "dead." The eyes were then closed, the remains were removed from their position in which death came, and all, but those who had been appointed to wait and watch, slowly and mournfully walked away.—George T. Curtis.

WOMAN.

Females, owing to the peculiar and important functions which they possess, and the peculiar organization, and the duties they perform, are subject to many sufferings. Freedom from these controlling to no small degree their happiness and welfare, for none can be happy who are ill. Not only do, but no one of them, variable females complaints can long be suffered to run on without involving the general health of the individual and ere long producing permanent sickness and premature decline. Nor is it pleasant to consult a physician for the relief of those delicate affections, and only upon the most urgent necessity will a true woman so far sacrifice her great charm as to do this. The sex will then thank us for placing in their hands a simple specific which will be found efficacious in relieving without the almost every one of those troublesome complaints peculiar to the sex.

Helmbold's Extract Buchu.

Hundreds suffer in silence, and hundreds of others apply to quacks, druggists and doctors, who either merely take the fees with the hope of a cure or apply remedies which make them worse. I would not wish to assert anything that would be injurious to the afflicted, but I am obliged to say that although it may be produced by excessive exhaustion of the powers of life, by abortive employment, unwholesome air and food, by suppressed menstruation, the use of tea and coffee, and frequent child-birth, it is far oftener caused by direct irritation, applied to a mucous membrane of the vagina itself.

When reflecting on the causes of these distressing complaints, it is most painful to contemplate the attendant evils consequent upon them. It is but simple justice to the subject to enumerate a few of the many additional causes which so largely affect the life, health, and happiness of women in all classes of society, and which, consequently, affect more or less directly, the welfare of the entire human family. The main that exists for procreation and multiplying, causes disorders that injure, designed for corporal development to be wasted and perverted. In the restraints of dress, the confinement of school, and especially in the unhealthy confinement of the ball-room. Thus, with the body half-clothed, and the mind unduly excited by pleasure, perverting midnight revel the hours designed by nature for sleep and rest, the work of destruction is half accomplished.

In consequence of this only strength upon her system, unnecessary efforts are required by the delicate votary to regain her situation in school at a future day thus aggravating the evil. When one excitement is over, another in prospective keeps the mind morbidly sensitive to happiness, while the now constant recreation of fashionable society, absolutely forbidding the overtaxed indisposition, is able to the attainment and retention of organic health and strength; the exposure to night air; the sudden change of temperature; the comparatively trifling exposure during illness, if necessary, produces fatal and lingering effect. At last, in early marriage comes the climax of misery, and the unforgiven violence of those hitherto so utterly regardless of the plain dictates and commandments of her delicate nature, becomes an unwilling subject of excellent treatment. This is but a truthful picture of the experience of thousands of our young women.

Long before the ability to exercise the functions of the generative organs, they require a education of their peculiar nervous system, composed of what is called the tissue, which is in common with the lungs, to breath and live. It lately must be the control of mental emotions and sensations at an early period.
